

Scouting is a worldwide movement with more than 30 million Scouts operating in 190 countries and territories. Continuing the tradition of over 100 years, this progressive, non-political, volunteer based organisation, which is not aligned with any particular religious faith, offers young people a values based program that is flexible and dynamic. Scouting involves young people of both genders from a diverse range of backgrounds, cultures, socio-economic groups and geographical areas and provides a challenging and supportive environment for them to extend their personal boundaries.

Executive Manager

■ Key Leadership Appointment

Scouting in Western Australia has experienced significant growth in recent years and has more than 5,000 youth members and over 1,600 registered volunteers. Its strategic plan has a strong and confident vision for the next 20 years.

Reporting to the Board, the Executive Manager plays a key role advising on and implementing the strategic directions of the Board and supporting the Chief Commissioner's operational plan. The role contributes to the effective management, planning and development of Scouting within Western Australia and the ongoing delivery of high quality youth development programs across the state.

Critical competencies include:

- Proven management experience with success in using best business practice to improve operational effectiveness and efficiency;

- The ability to lead and support a small team of employees and a large team of volunteers;
- Strong relationship management, communication and interpersonal skills;
- Sound financial and cost management skills; and
- Prior experience within the not for profit or community services sectors is highly desirable.

This appointment is for an initial term of three years.
